I believe that Microsoft has done what it could without turning the key in the lock and shutting down it's operations. I think that a person that has committed to a business and risked his money is entitled to make a profit whether it is a few dollars or a lot of dollars, it was his risk and guts that enabled this to happen and it creates jobs for thousands of people. I have a small business and it has taken several years of hard work and dedication to get to where I'm at today (still barely showing a profit) almost all of the dollars earned from this company have gone right back into it to make it what it is today.
